

José Mourinho or Ronald Koeman, Pashant Club on the outlook for a high-profile football manager – Sources

April 16, 2022 – Multiple sources familiar with Mount Vema football development plans told VSBCnews that the Pashant Football Club is in talks with several private and institutional investors to raise capital to hire a high-profile football manager.

The club is in talks to secure enough funding to attract a world class manager not just to build the team but also to help build fitness, and help new players and management staff settle in when called for training friendly matches overseas.

When the team is ready, they will embark on a long tour to five continents playing friendly matches and participating in several events until their home stadium in Mount Vema is ready to host them.

The City of Mount Vema will have just about 11 football stadiums and other sport facilities. One of the stadiums will be for the national team, and the others for the City's 10 professional football clubs.

The Mount Vema Football League according to organizers, will aim to be a top-level football league system, that will be contested by the 10 professional clubs currently raising capital on the Mount Vema Stock Exchange and beyond to afford world class football managers and players.

The League will be managed by a corporation in which the member clubs will act as shareholders. Seasons will run from September to June with each team playing 40 matches (playing each other home district and away). Most games will be played on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The League will be promoted in such manner, aiming to become the most-watched sports league in the territory and beyond. Among the things on the agenda are building fitness, helping new players and managers settle in, and brand promotions.
